POINTS OF INTEREST

(1) Agassiz House holds the Harvard College Admissions Office Visitor Center as well as a 330-seat theater that hosts various student-directed theater, dance, and orchestral performances.
(2) The Science Center contains several academic departments, five major lecture halls, dozens of classrooms, an observatory, and the Cabot Science Library.
(3) Memorial Hall is a Gothic-style brick building. Inside, Annenberg Hall is used as a dining hall that serves first-year students. Memorial Hall also contains the 1,000-seat Sanders Theatre, famous for its design and acoustics.

Memorial Hall

(4) Oxford Street and Divinity Avenue hold several major laboratories, academic departments, and museums, including the Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology and the Harvard University Herbaria.

Harvard Art Museums

(5) The Harvard University Art Museums house a world-class collection of approximately 150,000 works of art.
(6) The Carpenter Center for Visual Arts is the only building in North America designed by Le Corbusier. It is home to the Department of Art, Film and Visual Studies, and the Harvard Film Archive.
(7) The Barker Center is the headquarters for the humanities, housing a dozen academic departments.
(8) Tercentenary Theatre is an open space in which Commencement ceremonies take place. It contains Memorial Church, which was originally built in 1932 to honor Harvard students and alumni who fought in World War I. It also holds (9) Widener Library, a memorial to the Harvard alumnus Harry Elkins Widener who died aboard the Titanic, and Sever Hall, a classroom building built in 1878 and designed by H.H. Richardson.

Widener Library

(10) The Old Yard is the oldest part of Harvard's campus, with first references to its existence appearing in 1639. Now, most of the structures within the Old Yard are first-year dorms. University Hall now houses the offices of the Deans of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, including the Dean of Harvard College. (11) The John Harvard Statue faces (12) Johnston Gate, the main entrance to the Old Yard. The College was founded by the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1636 and named "New College." A local clergyman, John Harvard, bequeathed half of his estate and entire library, and the "New College" was renamed in his honor.
